

Do you understand milling cutter structure really? This article is told completely

One, but dislocation milling cutter is main geometrical an

Milling cutter has the part before a tool cutting edge angle two, one makes the part before axial, one makes the part radial.

P of ? of the horn before F of ? of the horn before radial axial, f of ? of the horn before radial basically affects cutting power; P of ? of the horn before axial affects those who cut to form the way with axial force, leave treatment area to be being cut to fly namely when the value when ? P.

Tine number:

? Scanty tine or standard tine are used at mill chamfer (safe)

? Close tine is used at outline mill (productivity)

Read More